

Cotemar highlights its social commitment through the Business Route

January 28, 2026.

Mexico City. - Grupo Cotemar joins the traveling exhibition "Ruta de las Empresas" (Business Route), a display featuring spherical sculptures painted by Mexican artists. The exhibition highlights the corporate social responsibility initiatives and contributions to society of seventeen leading companies from various sectors in Mexico and around the world.

This is an initiative of Consejo de la Comunicación A.C., where each company captures the impact of its social dimension in sculptures 120 centimeters in diameter, using various techniques and styles that project the positive and sustainable influence in the social, economic, and environmental spheres.

Cotemar is participating with the work entitled "Hands that hold the sea," by the artist Perla Crespo, a tribute to those who make offshore operations possible. The piece recognizes human talent as the central axis of every activity, highlighting employees as the organization's main strength, who, day after day, in the midst of a dynamic and complex environment, contribute with their work to the development of the country; likewise, it emphasizes the importance of their families, who motivate them to contribute to the nation's progress.

It should be noted that Cotemar is the first company in Mexico and the only one in the Oil & Gas sector to have a certified Social Responsibility Management System (IQNet SR10), in addition to having obtained the ESR (Socially Responsible Company) Distinction for 13 consecutive years.

The exhibition will tour three cities in the country this year: Mexico City from January 25 to March 6, on Paseo de la Reforma; then it will visit Guadalajara, from March 15 to April 25 on Avenida Chapultepec; and it will conclude in Monterrey, from August 2 to September 10.

With its participation in this artistic initiative, Cotemar demonstrates its commitment to promoting the sustainable development of Mexico, transforming its social responsibility into a legacy of well-being for society and future generations.
